How to Vote.

in to-day's intelligeneer, in connection with a sample builot, votors are instructed how to prepare their batter The most intelligent need not hold him self above reading these instruction and getting them well into his mind, for the most intelligent have shown themselves liable to blunder in making ou their tickets on the Australian ballot system. The large sheet with so much on it has a tendency to confuce.

Taking it for granted that every thoughtful man will want to vote the two ways to do it effectively. One way is to draw a line, with pen or indellible pencil, down the whole length of every other ticket, leaving the Republica: ticket unmarked. The other way is t draw a large X across the head of each ticket except the Republican ticket. The idea is to mark out every ticket while the voter does not wish to east. The N mark is made in less time than it takes to draw a long line down each of the four tickets which the Republican voter

The Popullst State Ticket Deal.

The Bryan state committee has made its deal with the nominees on the Populist state ticket, and the nominee for Congress in the First district, and got them to agree to get off. That was a more matter of making certain things satisfactory to certain leaders. The next thing is to get them off and get the Watts ticket under the Popullst head,

The Watta ticket was not nominated by the Populists, and this is not all, The Popullst ticket was to appear on the ballots by petition. The petitioners who asked to have it put on have no taked to have it taken off.

The point is made by Chairman Daw son, and it seems to be conclusive, that parison. the Populist Make committee cannot step in between the petitioners and the state and have the Populist ticket knocked in the head.

Before this hand is played out the

Bryan politicians are likely to discover that they have wasted some of their good money.

The Bryan newspapers that print the ready-made editorial matter furnished them without cost may be saving them-selves some intellectual strain, but they are opening their columns to some very

The Fight in Virginia.

The tone of the Bryan press in Virginia gives color to the claim of Republicans and sound money men in that state who think there is good reason to hope that the Old Dominion may cast its vote for sound money. If things were as one-sided as the Bryan managers would have it appear, the Bryan newspapers ould not be whistling to keep up the ourage of their fellowers.

Virginia does not figure in the Repub tean calculations, but in view of the fact that there are many sound money Democrats in the state, there is hope for Virginia if there be a free ballot and a air count. With so many of the oldtime Democracy on the sound money side there may be this year for the first time in many years, a fair expression of the will of the people.

One of the pretty practices in Virginia as been to "load" the ballot boxes in the counties where the colored popula-tion is heavy. The loading process is to put in the ballot box before the polls open as many Democratic ballots as the managers think will be necessary to insure the majority they want. In this way they have polled more votes than there were voters in countles where they have played this little game. Virginia is at least interesting enough this year to fill the Bryan people with apprehension and put them to their best Wheeling's Sound Money Day.

Arrangements progress for the non-artisan sound money parade next Monday afternoon. The line of march, as en this morning by Chief Marshal E. H. Franzheim, is short. Everybody no desires the defeat of Bryanism is invited to fall in. Republicans and sound money Democrats will march aide by side. There will be no badges of any and to distinguish Palmer men from McKintey men.

There will be but one kind of badge In addition to the badge the chief marmends that every man in the line carry a 29-inch American flag There will be no uniformed clubs in The spirit of the occasion will be that spirit which brings together in defense of the country's honor all who hold coun try above party and are willing to lay aside partisan designation to march un der the country's flag. If the weather be good there will be a turn-out worth ceing and worth being in.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

By Arthur Middleton-Absurdity of the Position of the Free Silver Sen.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer. SIR:-1 would like for some memb of the Popocratic ticket to explain why

SIR:—I would like for some member of the Popocratic ticket to explain why it is that both eight and four years ago the Democratic party, of which I was then an humble integral, was preaching from the stump lop for a reduction of the tariff, that the wage arriver and poor man might buy the comforts and necessities of life cheapet; and that now a part of that same party is shouting from house-top, stump top and car-top for a financial change that will cause these same necessities and comforts to cost more that things are too cheap?

Unless they have changed their opinion, which any wise man will do, they either do not believe what they say now, did not four years ago, or have gone back on free trade. Which is it? Mr. Bryan and all the Popocratic speakers say they want the people to have cheaper money and with the next breath say that free silver will go up to $129 and be worth the same as a gold dollar. How is this? Mr. Bryan and the Popocratic speakers say that the demand for silver under free colmagwill cause it to rise to $129 an ounce. If it does rise what will make it stop at $129. Will the silver barous, when they get control regulate the output, like coal operators and others, and keep the price the same? If so, will this not be the worst kind of a trust? Who will be benefited? When under the Sharman compulsory purchasing act the United States was compelled to buy the output of the American silver mine—when Stowart and other silver mine owners had forced the government to buy the products of their mines that silver went down from $115 an ounce to 55 cents an ounce. Upon what theory and upon what reasons will it advance-when the silver of the world comes into competition with American silver? These are a few questions that an ounce of anything? loes competition advance the price of

Does competition advance the price of anything?

These are a few questions that an humble socker of the truth would like answered. A rich man can buy silver buillion and have his money made to order, under free columne of silver, How the Sam Hill is a poor man to buy the silver to make his money? Will not the rich man thrive and succeed under any financial laws? Especially those which do not give the poor man a show? And will human nature so change that the rich man will divide his silver dollars with the poor man? Me thinks not. Will he not more likely divide the value of the dollar and give the poor man the beggar's share?

Are Mr. Bryan and the silver mine owners not made out of the same selfish clay, as a Wall street man? Isn't there a little more dirt in Bryan et al. as they want to go into power and wealth, by deception? Being a poor man, grasping for truits, will not some one light the lantern of truth and explain these things?

If there is a single gold standard one light the lantern of truth and explain these things?

If there is a single gold standard Democratic voic cast in this state, will it not be cast by one who is made of the stuff of martyrs? Why are the Popperats bounding every sound maney Democrat in the state? Don't they need any votes, or are they working for McKinley? Bryan voted for Weaver against Cleveland, Why are real Democrats who will not vote for a Populist such ethnical?

SIR:—I see that the Register is as far from the truth as possible in the account of the Popocratic parade byte Saturday might, by actual count there were III horsemen in the line, including the marshall and his aids, and there were by actual count, only 278 footnen, including a large number of boys from ten to sixteen years of age. They had an excursion on the steamer Lexington from New Martinsville, and Internediate points, and an excursion from New Matamoras, Friendly and other points on the steamer T.N.Barnsdall. They put their best foot forward and hid a very nice, orderly parade, but the Register's magnifylag glass had to be used (as usual), to 12 to make its readers believe that free filterials in the result of the result of the result of the points of the result of the points of the result of the position of the second of the policies have a meeting here the Register turns the glass and looks through the other end, and then makes up as small an account of a Republican meeting is sent in from this place by its correspondent, does not said, they throw it in the waste basket, and write up one in the office to suit their narrow partisan and untrue ylews. The Register's unfairness is despited even by the Democrats of this place, who have any honesty in their composition.

BRYAN'S HOG STORY

Applied in a Different War-An Apt Il-Instruction, To the Editor of the Intelligencer,

SIR:—During the Campaign Mr. Bry-an has made reveral allimions to hogs. and often quotes the hog he making and often quotes the hog it making comparisons. He seems to be very familiar with the habits and customs of that animal, and shows that he is an expert in the manuscement of hogs. One of the well known habits of the animal in queation is that he always wante to go in an opposite direction from what his driver intends, and, whether you wanted to drive him into the pig pen or slaughter house, ordinary methods would be resisted with great stubbornness, but get him headed towards the place you want him to go, then grab hold of his tall and null and pull and be will run into a slaughter house just as easily as he would run into the pig pen where a good meal was awaiting him, i dun't like to compare any of my fellow eftigens to pigs, and if Mr. Bryan had not ret me the example the thought would not have occurred to me, but here are one or two ideas suggested by Mr. Bryan's hos filmstrations.

The pig pen for one of his followers would be protection to American industries making a demand for labor, so that the workingman could dictate his terms and then get paid in the best money in the workingman could dictate his terms and then get paid in the best money in the work whele will leasen the demand for American labor; and free silver, so that if he get a labor; and free silver, so that if he get a labor; and free silver, so that for manufacture of the can be paid in a depreciated currency.

Mr. Bryan can manipulate his admires so that they are running their heads into the shaughterhouse instead of into the pig pen. He tells his friends to work doing the very thing that England wants by telling them not to do it. He is climbing the mark to dominate the American policy, and so no doubt 25 per cent of all Englishmen are hoping he will be cleeted. He sets his friends to work doing the very thing that England wants by telling them not to do it. Concerning the same matter, this week's Pittsburgh Advocate says:

We had not membed to speak of this matter at this time, but etters and inquiries from correspondents and friends have caused us to change our purpose, immediately on hearing the charge that Governor McKinley and his wife were renting property for saloon purposes, we made inquiry, and learned that Mrs. McKinley had inherited a certain property from her father, which had been learned by him for a period of years not yet capired, and that it is therefore beyond the control of the McKinleys Since then the Rev. John I. Wilson, pastor of Singaon church, Canton, has furnished to the Westera Advocate, in reply to an inquiry from Dr. Moore, the following statement:

"I went to see the McKinley saloon." Found that Mr. Saxton, durjus his life, leaved the more said pless of ground, unconditionally, for thirty years, and the parties sublet it and built a shanty on it for a saloon, and the lease has yet two years to run before it comes into the hands of Mrs. McKinley and the Saxton heirs.
